BRIEF OF THE EVENT

For countries to grow economically, history has shown that they must transit from primary production to value addition and manufacturing. This is how the West became prosperous. Similarly, East Asia within a generation has lifted millions out of poverty. The current global trade wars offer Africa a unique opportunity to leverage and attract manufacturing overcapacity from countries wishing to avoid tariffs. This will create jobs and technology transfer in Murang'a if the objectives of this conference are realized. In particular, industries in the agro-processing sector are encouraged to attend and consider investing because of the backward linkages created. However, the conference will showcase an expanded menu of investment options including healthcare, technology, recreation and sports
